Bishop's Column

The General Election in May offers us, as Catholics, the opportunity to question those who seek our vote to judge how they will act for those most in need, and how they will act to support and strengthen families and individuals in their human dignity with the opportunity to reach their full potential.

The various problems faced in our communities are felt most keenly by those who are most vulnerable; those suffering poverty in some form – financial, social isolation or rejection. Two examples show how the very basics of security, a job and a home, can turn from a solution to a problem.

Families used to be able to rely on work to provide enough money to get by. Having a job used to mean that families would be clothed and fed. Unfortunately the case now is that many families in work have to turn to food banks and support from parishes and charities in order to get by. Half of all people in poverty live in a family where at least one member of the household is in work<sup>1</sup>. This is a comment on the precarious workplace as experienced by some, dogged by low wages, inadequate hours, or exploitative zero-hour contracts which afford no security or predictability of income.

There are also deep-rooted problems with the housing market, which sees many young families struggle to buy a home or even to find a genuinely affordable home to rent. This situation is leaving families in difficult and often desperate

We Belong To God!

More than 150 young people from our Diocese joined a throng of 8,000 at Wembley Arena for the largest gathering of young Catholics the country has seen outside of Papal visits.

It was a day of celebrating and enriching their faith, with the overriding message "You are not alone, you belong to God." This was delivered in both word and sacrament, as well as by being surrounded with so much joy and energy.

Cardinal Luis Tagle of the Philippines was the main speaker. His heartfelt talk had everyone enraptured and caused them to both laugh aloud and shed a few tears. He focused on The Beatitudes, focusing especially on conveying the importance of Mercy.

Cardinal Tagle challenged everyone to be merciful and assured us that even when we feel alone, we belong to God.

Grammy award-winning Christian performer Matt Redman led the music and most of the Bishops of England and Wales joined both Cardinal Tagle and Cardinal Vincent Nichols in spending a day with the young people of our Church.

circumstances; the fact that one in three working parents say they have had to cut back on food in order to afford to pay for their home<sup>2</sup> shows an injustice in the environment which should be challenged. One of my roles as a Bishop is to be the Chair of CSAN, the network of Catholic charities and dioceses which join together in mission, working with many people, children, those with disabilities, the old, refugees, those affected by prison and those who are homeless. This network, and the many other groups and individuals in our parishes, share an ethos of "caritas" – charity, love and justice. Underpinning this is the richness of the principles of Catholic Social Teaching; human dignity, the common good and solidarity with people in poverty: all defining qualities for our work in social action and justice. Working in the spirit of love and justice every day can make a difference to so many people's lives. That is why at the time of this General Election I invite you to draw upon this rich heritage of Catholic social teaching and action and use it to inform yourself about the way you want to live and the way you think our society should be going. At this election, we are called to transform our faith into action for positive change. Now is our opportunity to challenge the candidates for election to answer our questions on how they intend to respond to the pressing social issues affecting our families and our most vulnerable brothers and sisters.

The Story Of A Diocesan Hero

Bishop Terry will join civic and army chaplaincy dignitaries at the Sacred Heart Church in Hull on Saturday April 25 to mark 100 years since the death of Father William Finn. The church was built in memory of Father Finn, who was killed on the first day of the Gallipoli landings. Here MARGARET TURNHAM tells us his story...

William Finn, who volunteered to serve as a military chaplain during the First World War, is believed to be the first Catholic chaplain killed in the war, when he fell in action during the Gallipoli landings of April 1915.

He came from Hull and before the war had served as curate at the Cathedral, then as chaplain at Houghton Hall and Market Weighton. After enlistment, he was attached to the first battalion of the Royal Dublin Fusiliers, joining them on their return to England from India.

They sailed from England on St Patrick's Day 1915 to join the rest of the 29th Division who were to be part of the landing force at Gallipoli in the Dardanelles. Their particular responsibility was V beach at the southern tip of the Dardanelles peninsula, at a place called Cape Helles.

Strategically, it was a disastrous choice for a landing place, as despite the fact that there was some open beach, most of the land rose straight out of the sea, making it ideal for Turkish defensive gun emplacements.

The troops were to be landed by means of a "Trojan Horse" strategy, which took the form of an old steam collier, the SS River Clyde, that would be run aground.

A pontoon, made up of barges towed behind it, would then be anchored in a line to the shore, enabling the men to jump ashore dry and ready to fight the Turks. The whole engagement was to be preceded by a naval bombardment to take out the Turkish defences.

Unsurprisingly, given the terrain and the inadequate planning of the entire campaign, the whole landing went disastrously wrong. The initial naval bombardment failed to destroy the Turkish defences, and so the men poured off the SS River Clyde into a hail of bullets.

Furthermore, difficulties in getting the barges into the correct position meant many men landed in the sea; with backpacks weighing over 60lbs, they sank under the weight of their equipment and drowned.

Father Finn was under orders to remain on the collier, but on seeing the sight of the men being mown down and needing his care, he managed to scramble ashore in order to minister to the dead and dying.

Despite being hit several times by enemy bullets, he continued to crawl out to wounded men and was finally killed whilst giving absolution to a dying soldier. An eyewitness who survived the carnage later wrote home:

Dear Joe, the worst of all was we had a priest who came along with us. He was in the boat; he insisted on coming with us, as he said he would be wanted for the poor boys. They were all calling for him, but the poor priest could do nothing for them. He got out of the boat afterwards and made a great run for the beach, but the Turks got him as soon he landed, for he was hit four times. He died that evening, but he was still asking for us up to the time he died.

Father Finn was awarded the Military Cross, although many felt he deserved to be given the Victoria Cross. This was refused on the grounds that he had disobeyed orders in going ashore with the men instead of remaining on the collier until it was safe to disembark.

From the battalion of 25 officers and 987 men who embarked on the SS River Clyde with Father Finn, only one officer and 374 other ranks survived the initial carnage, and by the time they left the Dardanelles on January 1 1916, only 11 of them were still alive.

Frank Finn, his brother, built Sacred Heart Church in Hull in memory of William.

*All are welcome to attend the Mass, which takes place at noon. Afterwards, the Lord Mayor of Hull will unveil a plaque, one of a series to commemorate inspirational figures from the city, outside the church. This will be followed by refreshments in the church hall.

Memorable Night For Council 29

There was a very special occasion for Middlesbrough's Council 29 of the Knights of St Columba when Bishop Terry attended their monthly Mass.

Brothers Mick Conwell and Mike Carr were presented with certificates marking 50 years as Knights, while Brothers Andrew Gardner, Ryan Metcalfe, Al Bury and Laurie

Haley were all raised to full knighthood. Bishop Terry, former chaplain Canon Derek Turnham and current chaplain Monsignor Gerard Robinson were made members of honour and the Bishop also blessed the Council 29 Charter.

The Knights is a fraternal order of Catholic men. Council 29 meets at St Mary's Cathedral in Middlesbrough on the first Tuesday each month at 7pm. Meetings begin with Mass in the Cathedral Chapel. New members are always welcome. Please contact Grand Knight Tony Kirk on 0777 945 7729.

Organised by CYMFed – the Catholic Youth Ministry Federation – Flame2 saw groups from five of our seven Catholic secondary schools join the MYMission Team and a group of young adults for what some described as a life-changing day.

Among many special memories, one Boro highlight was seeing Bishop Terry take to the stage to read a message of support from Pope Francis.

There was lots of singing and dancing, all that you would expect from such a large group of young people, but the day finished in a profoundly moving way with Father Timothy Radcliffe leading the congregation into silence before 8,000 young people prayed together before the Blessed Sacrament.

Father Paul Farrer said: "I'm really delighted that so many young people, their teachers and priests were able to be here. It is an experience of the universal Church that we need to give more and more of to our young people. They need to know they are not alone as people of faith."

Mark Taylor, headteacher of St Augustine's School, Scarborough, said: "It was a great day. I got so much out of it personally and I know the kids did too."

Liz Jayasuriya, of St Patrick's School, Thornaby, said: "All our young people just want to know when Flame3 is! The day was packed full of such good news. It was such an inspiring experience for us all.

"It was a great day of faith, encounter, sharing and celebration. It was a day when we learned that 'Blessed are the merciful.' And that 'We belong to God.' Here's to Flame 3!"

Message From Pope Francis, delivered by Bishop Terry

His Holiness Pope Francis presents His special greetings to all those persons who are participating in Flame2. Speaking to young people during his recent Apostolic Visit to the Philippines, the Holy Father affirmed: "God surprises us. Let us allow ourselves to be surprised by God. Let us not have the psychology of a computer, thinking that we know everything. What do I mean? Think for a moment. The computer has all the answers, never a surprise. In the challenge of love, God surprises us. Let yourselves be surprised by God: Don't be afraid. True love makes your heart burn within you. Think of Saint Francis; he left everything, he died with empty hands, but with a full heart. So, be wise; think well, feel well and act well. Let yourselves be surprised by God's love, then go and set the world aflame with that love. I want to encourage you as Christian citizens to offer yourselves passionately and honestly to the great work of renewing your society and helping to build a better world. His Holiness imparts to all participants in Flame2 and their families and loved ones a special Apostolic Blessing as a pledge of abundant graces from Our Blessed Lord.

The Mystery Of God's Mercy

Cardinal Tagle's Address To The Young People Of England And Wales

I would like to speak to you about the mercy of God. If I had a whole semester I would not be able to tell you all there is to know. I have only 20 minutes but I will try. First, I would like to ask all of you to look around you, try to recall your homes, your parishes, marvel at the many signs of mercy. The concrete ways by which men and women show God's mercy to others.

At the same time I would like you to open your eyes, ears and hearts to the many signs of the lack of mercy, hunger, thirst, violence, dehumanising poverty, the victims of human trafficking, the abuse of vulnerable people, the children, women, migrants, those with disabilities. Look at the victims and survivors of war. Imagine the incalculable harm done by the lack of mercy to individuals, families and whole communities.

When I encounter someone who has experienced the lack of mercy from other people or institutions, what hits me is the sense that nobody cares. When we are touched by those people then we know that only mercy can save humanity. Our hearts break whenever somebody says, "Nobody cares for me, I am alone, nobody cares."

It is in this context that we proclaim who God is. He maintains love for us all. He forgives us, he is tenderness and compassion. We turn to the God who is merciful. We can understand God's mercy as this amazing attachment to persons. He is joined to us, he heals sinners, the wayward and those in need.

Why is God like this, even with his enemy? Because we have a covenant with him. He tells us, "I am your God, you are my people. You are mine, how can I give you up?"

teachers. What do we do with those who we want to kick out of the school? Well, God is merciful.

Look at Jesus, he called his 12 students and taught them for three years and during the final examination they all failed! They did not understand. He had to teach them again after the resurrection and then he sent the Holy Spirit to continue teaching them. God does not give up. This is the mercy of God. It has flesh and blood in the person of Jesus Christ.

Think of the stories of the lost coin, the lost sheep and the prodigal son. They end in feasting and celebration. Where there is mercy, there is joy. The Gospel really is the Gospel of Mercy.

That lost sheep may be a financial liability, but it is mine. That lost coin may not amount to very much, but it belongs to me. That son who had wasted everything is my son. This is mercy. This is joy. No-one is alone. You belong to God.

My dear young people, be the living signs in our world of God's mercy, of the joy of the Gospel of Mercy. Recall in your lives how God has been merciful to you and proclaim the joy that has come to you because of God's mercy.

Feed the hungry, give drink to the thirsty, welcome those without homes, visit the sick and console those in prison. Be Good Samaritans, spread the flame of God's mercy and heal the wounded world.

Dear young people, it doesn't cost much to be a sign of joyful mercy to those who feel that nobody cares. May I ask you to take out your mobile phones and send a message to one or two people? I am going to dictate the message. Ready? Send to your friends and parents. Tell them, "Blessed are the Merciful!" Ready? Send! Thank you!

Mass For Richard III

As part of ceremonies marking the re-interment of King Richard III, Cardinal Vincent Nichols celebrated Mass for the repose of the soul of Richard III in Holy Cross Church, Leicester, on Monday March 23. Three days later his remains were re-interred in Leicester Cathedral, the mediaeval Catholic parish church of Leicester.

Easter Message For Persecuted Christians

Bishop Declan Lang, Chair of the Catholic Bishops' Conference Department of International Affairs, encouraged Catholics to contact Christian prisoners of conscience and human rights defenders with an Easter message of hope. Action by Christians Against Torture published details of Christians, including a teacher imprisoned on political charges in Indonesia, a priest facing threats because of his human rights advocacy in Cuba and an MP risking her safety by speaking out on behalf of religious minorities in Pakistan.

Oscar Romero Nearer To Sainthood

Archbishop Oscar Romero will be beatified in San Salvador on May 23. The ceremony moves the murdered archbishop a step closer to sainthood. Cardinal Angelo Amato, prefect of the Congregation for Saints' Causes, will celebrate the Mass.

Homeless Man Buried At Vatican

A small cemetery inside the Vatican walls made headlines with the burial of a Belgian homeless man, Willy Herteleer. He was buried in "the pilgrims' tomb", a common grave just a few yards from the tombs of bishops, royalty and academics. Parishioners at the Vatican's St Anne Church, where he attended daily Mass, gave him food that he shared with other homeless people.

St Aelred's Pupils Are First VIPs!

Excited children at St Aelred's School in York are eager to demonstrate their excellent behaviour and attitude to learning after the introduction of a new VIP scheme.

The school already presents weekly certificates for Star Pupils, Big Maths Champions and Fabulous Presenters, but is now rewarding even more children for excellence.

Every two weeks parents are invited to a special assembly when one VIP from each class is announced.

Pupils walk up the red carpet to the sound of Celebration by Kool & the Gang, before receiving their VIP lanyard, which they wear for two weeks, and a VIP certificate. They also sit at a special dinner table with cloth, flowers and reserved signs.

"The children have been so excited and are desperate to become VIPs," said foundation stage leader Sylvia Klays.

Schools Partnership Continues To Strengthen

Middlesbrough Catholic Schools Partnership continues to strengthen through regular events and meetings. The partnership, first formed as Trinity Partnership in 2009, has seen every Catholic school in Middlesbrough come together as one body to lay foundations for both a strong academic and spiritual education for the young people in the area.

The structure of the group changed following the award of Teaching School status to St Clare's Primary School. There have been several events this year connecting schools across the partnership in faith, including year eight and year five pupils sharing a day together. This started with Mass at St Mary's Cathedral followed by a faith walk from Seaton Carew to Summerhill Park.

Celebrations For 'Outstanding' School

A Bridlington school is celebrating after Ofsted inspectors declared it "outstanding" in every area.

Our Lady and St Peter Roman Catholic Primary School achieved Ofsted's highest possible ranking after being previously rated as "good".

Ofsted says pupils of all abilities make outstanding progress. The behaviour and safety of pupils, quality of teaching, leadership and management and early provision are all now outstanding.

The inspectors' report says that joint headteachers Anne Parr and Angela Spencer are uncompromisingly committed to raising pupils' achievement and have maintained consistent improvement since the last inspection.

"Their vision for the school is shared by an outstanding governing body and motivates a dedicated and highly-skilled staff team," the report says.

Pupils of all abilities make outstanding progress through the school in reading, writing, mathematics and other subjects, achieving above-average results at the end of year six.

Mrs Parr and Mrs Spencer said they were very proud of the children, who impressed inspectors with their hard work, good manners and excellent behaviour. They also paid tribute to the professionalism and dedication of the school's teachers, teaching assistants and support staff, as well as the support given by the governors and the education authority.

Councillor Julie Abraham, East Riding of Yorkshire Council's portfolio holder for children, young people and education, said: "I am delighted Our Lady and St Peter RC Primary School has been recognised for its efforts and particularly proud that the children were seen as such excellent ambassadors for the school."

Old Friends And New Challenges

Francis Hannaway, from St Gabriel's Parish, Ormesby, in Middlesbrough, continues his report from Basankusu Diocese in the Democratic Republic of Congo, where he is working as a lay missionary for Mill Hill Missionaries.

"Meeting" has been the theme of my year so far: meeting old friends and new and meeting situations and challenges. Mill Hill Missionaries used to be the driving force of Basankusu Diocese – now we are a community of only three, Father John Kirwan MHM from Merseyside, Father Stan Bondoko MHM who is Congolese, and myself.

My first meeting – and challenge – was the extremely hot and humid weather. It's so tiring. A day's work in such stifling heat is sometimes like climbing a mountain. We've had a little respite recently, some cooler days and a little breeze now and then. We are lucky to have a generator for a few hours each evening. It gives us enough power to turn on lights, the TV, pump water into the oil-drums in the loft

(our water tank) and use the washing machine. My next meeting was with teachers and children of the voluntary schools for orphans. It was really uplifting to see the community making such an effort – teaching children to read, write and count and to provide meals – when the volunteers have so little themselves.

I met with my own students here at Maison St Joseph (St Joseph's House). Candidates who want to discern their vocation have a long road to travel. We give them nine months of "orientation" – lessons to set them on their feet before they enter "basic formation" in Kenya. After two years there, if they are successful, they can enter the Mill Hill seminary in Uganda. I couldn't wish to meet a nicer group of young men.

I met with Bishop Mokobe of Basankusu. He was very welcoming and pleased I'd come to Africa, despite all the terrible things happening here, not least Ebola. He also asked me to teach at the minor seminary in Bonkita, 12 miles away.

Father Stan introduced me to the Basankusu Youth Choir, who can improvise complex harmonies at the drop of a hat. They were going to perform at Waka parish of Christ the King. Although only 50 miles away, it took almost four hours to get there because of the poor roads.

I left Kinshasa over a month ago and it seemed disorganised but peaceful. This week, however, I met with the grim realities of life in a country without democracy and the rule of law. There were protests in Kinshasa over the President clinging to power by changing the constitution. Cars were overturned and shops looted. The government responded by opening fire on anyone in the vicinity. I can't begin to describe the terrible things that have happened. There are many dead.

You can keep up with the latest news from Francis Hannaway in the Congo on Facebook. If you would like to send a donation to support the school for orphans (£10 will buy a wooden desk for three children), make cheques payable to, "Mill Hill Missionaries (Francis Hannaway - Congo)" and include a covering note. ANGEL STONE ROLLED CELEBRATE TOMB EASTER	FRIENDS REMEMBER RISEN JOY JESUS APOSTLES

He is Risen!

When Jesus died his apostles thought everything was lost, but on Easter Sunday the angel rolled back the stone to show Jesus was no longer in the tomb. He had risen from the dead, and his friends were filled with joy. This is why we celebrate at Easter, as we remember that Jesus is with us always.

LOURDES CORNER

Your Lourdes Stories...

Lourdes has had a profound impact on thousands of lives since the Middlesbrough Pilgrimage began in 1952. Each month some of those people tell their often deeply moving stories.

Some of them will make you smile and others might make you cry. All reflect some aspect of what our Pilgrimage means and reveal how it has the power to transform lives.

Some were first heard at the Taizé service that has become part of our pilgrimage in recent years and are collected in a book, where more can be added. If you have your own Lourdes story you'd like others to share, please email Mary Lombard at thelombards@hotmail.com

Inspired By Bernadette

I've visited Lourdes three times and the story of St Bernadette really touched me. Bernadette was such a young girl, poorly educated and she didn't have much money or materialistic goods, or many friends. But God chose her, the simple person with the pure heart and the pure faith.

Bernadette's story taught me I don't need to be the most academic person or be the best at running or have the fanciest clothes. God loves me for who I am because he created me. Lourdes has helped me a lot with my self-confidence, it has taught me I don't need to stand and look at the magazines or the media and try to be that kind of person. I will be loved for myself.

When I first thought of coming to Lourdes, I thought I would be bored. But once you arrive, you never stop – there's so much to do, everyone is always there to help and get involved. What really stood out was that there were so many different ages and ethnicities, people who are well and those who are sick, all coming together to praise God and live Bernadette's story, and I think that's just amazing.

Before I started coming to Lourdes, I was a bit sceptical about God. I was a Catholic but I didn't really understand the faith. Coming to Lourdes and meeting other young people and sharing their stories helped me develop my faith in a way that I now feel that I can trust in God.

When you visit Lourdes you never see anyone upset. If they are crying, it's because they are overwhelmed with everything that's going on. It's an amazing place to be. We would never normally get the chance to help the VIPs or meet new people and I just think it's brilliant.

A Humbling Example

When I visited Lourdes with my grandmother I had reservations, because although I was brought up as a Catholic, I didn't practice as one. I had reservations about rituals and all that sort of thing, so I went very much because I thought it would make my grandmother happy, rather than because I wanted to.

But God uses things like this to put his finger on problems such as spiritual pride and feeling like you have all the answers. He tells us that his ways are different from our ways and we cannot understand – and he is right.

Seeing how people live out faith in Christ in Lourdes was amazing. Really serving each other, really loving each other. I think visiting Lourdes is such a humbling experience because you meet people from all walks of life putting off their pride, giving up time and hard-earned cash to help others. It is a really humbling example of how we ought to follow Christ and I hope that it will stay with me and remind me going forward.

Lourdes Day Of Prayer

Mizens' Message Of Forgiveness And Faith

Catenians from eight circles and Catholics from seven Ryedale parishes were joined by Anglicans and Methodists to hear a remarkable story of forgiveness and faith.

When Margaret and Barry Mizen's 16-year-old son Jimmy was killed in a vicious street attack in London in 2008, they channeled their emotions and energies away from anger and into helping young people avoid becoming involved in violence.

The Catholic couple believe violence in young people stems from years of feeling unloved, unvalued and afraid. Their faith has given them the energy and determination to establish effective ways to help.

As a practical legacy of peace, they set up the Jimmy Mizen Foundation, which supports youth clubs and funds "Jimmy Buses" for youngsters. Their "Cafes of Good Hope" provide both work experience for young people and funds for their Foundation. They speak to young people in schools and prisons with remarkable results.

An audience of 130 packed Hovingham Village Hall to hear their inspiring message at an event sponsored and organised by Ampleforth and District Catenians. Although not planned as a fundraising event, donations and sales of Margaret's book topped £1,700.

Prom Praise Prepares For Next Step

After the success of its Singing Day, the next task for Prom Praise York is to assemble a choir to sing at the Royal Albert Hall. A total of 101 singers turned out for an enjoyable and challenging day of tuition from Noël Tredinnick and Helen Warry.

"We had a wonderful cross-section of York's Christian community, with all the denominations represented in strength," said organiser Mike Parish. "This reinforced the message that our shared musical traditions help bring us all together in our worship."

Catholics from St Margaret Clitherow, Haxby, St George's, York, St John's, Easingwold, and Thorganby Priory were among those who took part. Plans are now underway to get together a choir to sing at the Albert Hall on April 25 before a concert on in the York Barbican on October 3.

If you'd like to help, please contact Mike Parish on 07880 548474. You can keep up with plans for the event on Facebook (Prom Praise York), Twitter (@PromPraiseYork) or by emailing info@prompraiseyork.org.uk

Big Society Award For SVP

Prime Minister David Cameron invited St Vincent de Paul Society leaders to a reception celebrating the organisation's Big Society Award.

SVP national president Adrian Abel and chief executive Elizabeth Palmer visited 10 Downing Street alongside representatives from around 50 organisations receiving the award, including sports clubs, art associations and charities.

Mr Cameron commended all those who have given their time to serve the community and urged them to continue their good work. He said a vicar had reminded him he hadn't invented the Big Society – the credit belongs to Jesus.

The Prime Minister asked Mr Abel and Mrs Palmer about the SVP's work and on hearing that they befriend people who live alone, especially older people, he said there would be an increase in the need for such work in the future.

"Going up the stairs of Number 10 there are pictures of former Prime Ministers dating back to the 18th Century," said Mr Abel. "Frederick J Robinson, who served from August 1827 until January 1828, had connections to the SVP.

"His son, George Frederick Robinson, converted to Catholicism in 1874 and subsequently became the SVP's national president in 1899 until his death in 1909.

"Always a progressive politician, serving in government for a short time alongside Winston Churchill, he was known as a great conciliator. I hope he was looking down on us from heaven with approval."

The SVP is an international Christian voluntary organisation dedicated to tackling poverty and disadvantage by providing practical assistance to those in need.

Formed in Paris in 1833, the group has around 10,000 active volunteers in the UK, who make more than 500,000 visits each year to vulnerable people in their communities.

Building Bridges Together

The Together Middlesbrough and Cleveland Impact Statement highlights significant progress made in supporting the poor, the homeless and refugees over the last two years.

This Church Urban Fund initiative has made a difference to the lives of so many vulnerable people in our community. Its distinctly ecumenical approach has paid dividends and we benefit from having Bishop of Whitby, the Rt Rev Paul Ferguson, as our chair, as well as the wholehearted support of Bishop Terry.

Bishop Terry sanctioned the use of the John Paul Centre in Grange Road to be one of our visible contributions to the Together Middlesbrough and Cleveland work and it is now a hive of activity.

Bringing together a range of charities at the centre, combined with the established role as a place of worship and prayer, is a formidable combination. As diocesan representative on the Together Middlesbrough and Cleveland Board of Trustees, I know the significant results outlined in this statement are just the beginning, with more far reaching plans scheduled for this year.

The work of the John Paul Centre needs your support. If you can, why not make an Easter gift to help the new services for the poor flourish at the centre? Please send donations, made payable to the John Paul Centre, to Father Andrew Burns, John Paul Centre, 53-55 Grange Road, Middlesbrough, TS1 5AU.

John Hinman, Trustee, Together Middlesbrough and Cleveland

The project aims to support and develop the churches' response to poverty in Middlesbrough and Cleveland, working in partnership with other organisations and agencies. The scale and spread of deprivation in Teesside is among some of the worst in the country, with 47% of Middlesbrough ranked in the bottom 10% poorest places to live.

In these communities up to 60% of children are living in poverty, up to 53% of families are headed by lone parents and male life expectancy is as low as 68 years.

This impact report is a snapshot of what has been achieved over the past two years by churches and organisations working together. It has been so encouraging to see the many projects and partnerships that have developed during this time. The project has recently been registered as a charity Together Middlesbrough and Cleveland to reflect its growing work.

Funding was secured in 2014 via the Church Urban Fund to create the Positive Pathways out of Homelessness project.

Voluntary Organisation Needs Your Help

The SVP is always looking for new members to help in the community through its 44 parish-based conferences in our Diocese.

The charity has set up community shops to provide low-cost furniture and clothing and a drop-in point for lonely people in the community. Most shops make a small profit, which goes to national and local SVP funds. There are two community shops in the Teesside area, on Rothbury Road, Middlesbrough, and Redcar's High Street. There is also a SVP clothing bank at Sacred Heart Church on Linthorpe Road, Middlesbrough.

Meanwhile, the "Mini Vinnies" programme aimed at children aged between seven and 11 has proved a huge success. Based on a model introduced in Australia, children, with the permission of their parents and the support of their schools, are encouraged to "see, think and do". The programme engages children on social justice issues while they're also having fun.

The talk takes place in St Mary's Cathedral Hall, Middlesbrough TS8 0TW on Wednesday April 15 at 7.45pm (coffee from 7.30pm). Everyone is welcome. Please call 01642 645732 or email tpj.egerton@virgin.net for more details.

Dr Susan Royal will speak about Reorientating the Catholic Past in the English Reformation when York Newman Circle meet on April 20 at St Bede's Pastoral Centre. Talks begin at 7.30pm and admission is £1 for members, £2 for non-members and free for students.

Islamic State In Focus

Events in the Middle East will come into focus at this year's Anthony Storey Memorial Lecture. Speaker Dr Chris Davidson, Reader in Middle East Politics in the School of Government and International Affairs at Durham University, will examine The Islamic State in Context.

Chris is a former pupil of Hull's St Mary's College whose latest book After the Sheiks: The Coming Collapse of the Gulf Monarchies was listed by the Foreign Policy Association as one of the most significant books of 2013. The lecture takes place in the Lindsey Suite, Staff House, University of Hull, Cottingham Road, Hull HU6 7RX on Saturday May 9 at 11am, with tea and coffee from 10.30am. All are welcome.

A Christian Response To Homelessness

Churches and faith organisations will examine the issue of homelessness in the Middlesbrough area at a conference in the town.

Together Middlesbrough and Cleveland and DePaul UK is hosting the event, which will provide an opportunity for people to come together to learn, share and reflect on homelessness and our response, motivated by faith.

The keynote speaker will be John Kuhrt, who writes about issues of homelessness and social justice, while the Bishop of Jarrow, the Rt Rev Mark Bryant, a trustee of DePaul UK and a volunteer host for Nightstop, will also attend.

The day will include looking at the causes of homelessness and the role of faith groups and their contribution to tackling the problem and hearing first hand stories of the positive support experienced by people moving out of homelessness.

The John Paul Centre has an excellent track record of providing hospitality and support, including the recent development of the Positive Pathways project in partnership with DePaul UK.

Positive Pathways development worker Terry Doyle said: "The conference is an excellent opportunity for the many support services and faith-based groups to come together to explore how best we can all work together, to share good practice and to be honest as to what may not be working as best it could."

Homelessness: Are We Really Helping? will take place on Thursday April 30 from 9.30am to 3.30pm at the Trinity Centre, North Ormesby TS3 6LD. Booking is essential via Eventbrite at <http://homelessness-are-we-really-helping.eventbrite.co.uk> or by email at together@trinitycentre.org

Pilgrimage To Holy Island

Celtic Prayer on the beach at Holy Island

All are welcome to join the 12th annual Apostleship of the Sea pilgrimage to Holy Island on Saturday June 20.

Following the format that has proved so popular in the past, there will be Celtic Prayer on the beach at 11.30am and the feast day Mass of St Alban the Martyr will be celebrated in St Mary the Virgin Anglican Church at 2pm.

The Rt Rev Stephen Robson, Bishop of Dunkeld, who is also the Bishop Promoter for AoS Scotland, will lead the pilgrimage. Visit www.apostleshipofthesea.org.uk for more information about the work of the AoS.

Election Hustings In East Cleveland

Parishioners in East Cleveland have extended an open invitation to two election hustings planned in April.

The public meetings will be held at Redcar's Sacred Heart School, Mersey Road, on Monday April 27, and Emmanuel Church hall, off Windsor Road, Saltburn, on Thursday April 30, both starting at 7pm.

The Reverend Catey Morrison, of Redcar United Reformed Church, will chair both events.

Questions to the candidates are welcomed by organisers, the local newly-formed Caritas East Cleveland, a group from the Catholic parishes of Redcar, Marske and Saltburn who have a concern for Justice and Peace and promoting Catholic Social Teaching. Caritas East Cleveland has organised the hustings on behalf of Churches Together in Redcar.

"We hope most, if not all, the candidates in the two constituencies, Redcar and Middlesbrough South and East Cleveland, will be there," said organiser Dominic Hoy, a member of the church group.

"Our group will be putting questions based on the Common Good theme proposed by church leaders and subjects will include climate change, but we expect members of the public will have other topics to put to them."

Young Football Stars Head To Hull

This year's Catholic Primary Schools Cup Football Tournament will be held on Saturday May 9 at St Richard's Voluntary Catholic Academy (formerly St Richard's Primary School, Marfleet Lane, Hull).

All primary schools in the Diocese have been sent an invitation to enter teams in the separate boys and girls competitions.

Now in its 19th year, this is a six-a-side tournament played on specially marked pitches with teams playing in groups initially, and the top two teams in each group progressing to knockout stages.

As well as cups and medals for the winners and runners-up, the event will include official referees, fair play trophies, best banner competition and an award for the most original pennant designed by schools.

The Mike McCullagh Memorial Cup will also be awarded to the school displaying excellence in its approach to the event and on the day. Every child taking part will receive a commemorative medal. Complimentary photographs will also be taken of each team.

The small team of volunteers who have organised this event since its inception in 1997 are now in the process of handing it over to the Diocese and schools. They will continue to organise the tournament in the future, starting with Tournament 20 in 2016.

VOCATIONS

I have recently been doing a course in Moral Theology. The central basis of our studies has been the three theological virtues: faith, hope and charity. For every Christian, our cultivating of these virtues is key for deepening our relationship with God and with others.

View From A Seminarian: Faith, Hope And Charity

So why are they so important? Faith is our act of believing in God, our response to his call of friendship. This great adventure begins in earnest at our baptism. It is a gift given to us by God and is born in our encounter with Him who loves us and calls us to love in return with all our hearts. The disciple is not only asked to preserve their faith but to profess and witness to it. Faith is not some stab in the dark, as our secular world would try and convince us. As the Catechism tells us: "Faith is certain. It is more certain than all human knowledge because it is founded on the very word of God who cannot lie." (CCC157)

Hope is intimately linked with faith. We journey towards happiness in the Kingdom of Heaven and place our trust in Christ, relying on the grace of the Holy Spirit. While we recognise our human sinfulness, hope allows us to look beyond our discouragement and seek the Lord's forgiveness by which we come to salvation won for us by Christ on the Cross.

Charity is the virtue by which we love God and our neighbour. It is the basis of both faith and hope and therefore the first of the theological virtues. Jesus makes charity the new commandment "to love one another as I have loved you" (John 15:12).

In the last decade, beautiful papal encyclicals have been written on all three of these virtues: Caritas in Veritate and Spe Salvi, by Pope Benedict XVI, and Lumen Fidei by Pope Francis. I would recommend a careful, prayerful and reflective reading of each of these. We are all called to grow in faith, hope and charity. A great way to ask for help in this endeavour is by praying to Our Heavenly Mother. Whenever we recite the Rosary, we are invited to dedicate the three Hail Mary beads before starting the decades to an increase of faith, hope and charity in our day-to-day lives. Let us also pray for each other in this pursuit.

Warm Tributes Paid To Canon Gerry

Tributes have been paid to Canon Gerald Cox, who has died at the age of 80 after serving parishes throughout the Diocese of Middlesbrough across five decades.

Canon Gerry was born in Hull on July 11 1934, the son of Albert and Catherine and brother of Peter and John. At St Vincent's Primary School he was a classmate of another future priest of the Diocese, Father Brian Nicholson.

After completing his secondary education at the Marist College, he graduated from Hull University in Mathematics. After a one-year preparation course at Campion House, Osterley, he studied for the priesthood at St Cuthbert's Seminary in Ushaw, County Durham, from 1957 to 1963.

Canon Gerry was ordained to the priesthood in St Vincent's Church, Hull, on June 9 1963 and took up his first curacy in St Aelred's, in York. In 1965 he was seconded to the junior seminary of St Michael's, Underley Hall, Lancashire before continuing his teaching at St Joseph's Seminary, Upholland, also in Lancashire. He returned to the Diocese in 1979 as Parish Priest of St Joseph's, Middlesbrough, where he remained for nine years, before moving to the Parish of St John of Beverley. In 2001, he replaced retiring Auxiliary Bishop Kevin O'Brien at St Charles Borromeo, in Hull.

Canon Gerry's final placement was from 2005 to 2011 at Our Lady of Perpetual Succour, Market Weighton, before retiring from active ministry to live in Hull.

However, he continued to support the local parishes and priests, notably St Anthony and Our Lady of Mercy Parish during the sickness of the late Father Norman Jacobson.

Along with many years of dedicated parish ministry, Canon Gerry's Diocesan roles included Schools Commissioner, Dean, Vocations Director and Episcopal Vicar for the south of the Diocese. He was also instrumental in securing the present site for the Hull University Catholic Chaplaincy.

"Those who assisted him as curates were often challenged by his Yorkshire directness, but valued and appreciated his priestly example of generous and zealous service to those entrusted to his care," said the Diocese of Middlesbrough's Vicar General, the Very Reverend Monsignor Gerard Robinson.

"They will especially recall his quiet and unassuming outreach to those on the margins of society.

"The Diocese owes a debt of gratitude to the Cox family for providing us with a loyal shepherd and assures them of our prayerful sympathy at this time.

"We should also recognise the care of his brothers, Peter and John, over the most recent times and especially the care shown by Peter's wife, Pam, to Gerry in the twilight of his life."

Canon Gerry, who died on Monday February 23, was received into St Vincent's, Hull, on Sunday March 8.

His funeral Mass was at St Charles Borromeo in Hull on Monday March 9.

Ampleforth Monk's Everest Role

A Benedictine monk who ensured that a crucifix was placed on the summit of Mount Everest during Sir Edmund Hillary's historic 1953 expedition has died just two weeks after his 93rd birthday.

Father Martin Haigh OSB, of Ampleforth Abbey, sent to expedition leader Sir John Hunt the small crucifix blessed by Pope Pius XII, asking that it be placed on the top of the mountain.

Sixty years later and into his 90s, Father Martin was still giving presentations to College students about the Everest crucifix placed on the summit by Hillary.

Father Martin had written to Sir John: "When [the real] history of the world comes to be read, the day when men climbed to the very summit of the earth and left there the sign and symbol of our faith will rank as one of the very great days."

That same year Father Martin started the annual Ampleforth Lourdes Pilgrimage with the then Father Basil Hume, and he was Pilgrimage Director until 1987.

For more than 50 years Father Martin also gave lectures on the Shroud of Turin, culminating in the 2004 release of a DVD and video, The Wonder of the Shroud, leading one reviewer to state: "Roll over Sister Wendy Becket and her Old Masters. For a similarly appealing, compulsively viewable, natural TV presenter, the Shroud has found its Sister Wendy in Father Martin Haigh, OSB, a quiet-spoken, youthfully octogenarian Benedictine monk based at Ampleforth Abbey."

Father Martin was born in London in 1922 and educated at Ampleforth College. He joined the monastic community in September 1940 and was ordained priest on July 17 1949.

For more than 30 years Father Martin had a wide-ranging variety of roles in Ampleforth College, teaching Art and French from 1947 to 1981, a games master from 1948 to 1963 and Housemaster of St Bede's House from 1963 to 1977.

At the end of his time in the school Father Martin served in parishes including Gilling East. He was an accomplished artist and in 1993 and 1998 had an exhibition of oil pastels in Liverpool's Anglican Cathedral. Today, the walls of the Ampleforth Abbey Tea Shop boast many of his paintings.

Early in 2014, Father Martin was diagnosed with chronic myeloid leukaemia and expressed a desire not to have any treatment, but to let the disease take its course.

He died peacefully in the monastery infirmary on January 31. His funeral Mass took place in the Abbey Church, followed by burial in the Monks' Wood.

A Joyful Celebration For Lent

I wonder how many of us ever think of Lent as being a time of joy?

Perhaps we're more used to the idea of "sackcloth and ashes" – after all, there's no doubt that the traditional disciplines of prayer, fasting and almsgiving are all essential to a really fruitful experience of Lent.

But, as Pope Francis reminds us, the sense of joy brought to us by the Gospel should never be very far from a Christian's heart. "This," he writes, "is the joy which we experience daily, amid the little things of life, as a response to the loving invitation of God our Father."

It is surely right, then, that the First Sunday of Lent should be marked by the joyful celebration of the Rite of Election. This is the moment when those who wish to be received into the Church begin a period of intense preparation for the Easter sacraments.

So Bishop Terry invited seven catechumens to make their solemn commitment to this preparation by signing the Book of the Elect at the Cathedral.

These catechumens are men and women who were not baptised as children but who have nevertheless experienced that "loving invitation of God our Father".

Another 37 candidates were then invited to make a promise to their "continuing conversion". These are people who are already baptised and who are therefore members of the Body of Christ. During Lent, though, they will continue to prepare for full membership of the Church at Easter by being confirmed and then by receiving the sacrament of Holy Communion for the first time.

When a candidate or a catechumen is asked about what attracted them to the Church, they often reply that it was the example of faith given by someone who was already a member. This fits completely with the teaching handed down to us by all of our recent popes – from Pope Francis, for instance, who reminds us that faith grows through "attraction", to Pope Paul VI, who advised us to remember that people are much more ready to listen to witnesses than they are to teachers.

This is indeed a challenge for all of us who do belong to the Church. We need to ask ourselves how effective we are as witnesses to the Gospel and to reflect upon how attractive our lives might be as examples of faith.

Thankfully, though, this example of faith works in two directions. There is no doubt that the witness given to us by those who seek to join the Church can strengthen our determination to live a more faithful life and so help us to spread the good news of Jesus Christ.

I'm sure that's why all of those who attended the Rite of Election – the sponsors, the godparents, the catechists, the whole congregation and even the clergy – found it to be both a source of great inspiration and a really terrific way to begin the joyful season of Lent.

New Look For Youth Website

Catholic youth workers are being asked to share their ideas and experiences to help a newly-revamped website become an invaluable resource for the whole Church.

The site – <http://CatholicYouthWork.com> – is run by the Salesians of Don Bosco, a religious congregation of brothers and priests with a special mission to work with young people.

It offers resources, jobs, a forum to share ideas and find support and updates on the latest youth ministry news and events, and is available free of charge to everyone who works with young people in the Church.

Site editor Chris Knowles, who has been involved in youth ministry for many years as a lay school chaplain, hopes CatholicYouthWork.com will bring the best ideas together in one place.

"We know there are lots of people out there doing great work with young people," he said.

"They're all doing fantastic things, having amazing ideas and putting exciting plans into action, but the problem is that we're too often disconnected from one another.

"This site is a place we can all come together to share ideas, resources and good practice, and was designed specifically to facilitate this. So we invite you to come onto the site, join the forum and start to share ideas and resources."

The Salesians have invested in the site since taking it on last summer and Provincial Father Martin Coyle said it was appropriate that the relaunch took place on the feast of St John Bosco.

He said: "There really isn't anything else like this out there. It's a great way to use new technology to help those who minister to young people.

"This year we celebrate the bicentenary of the birth of St John Bosco, and while he wouldn't recognise a website if he saw one, he did love new technology such as the railways and the modern printing presses of his time, things that made it easier to bring people together and share the Gospel.

"This project is a particularly appropriate way for us to continue to live out his mission today."

Father Dermott Donnelly, Chair of CYMFed, the Catholic Youth Ministry Federation in England and Wales, welcomed the relaunch, saying: "This is a fantastic resource that will help strengthen and support the Church's important work with young people."

Anyone can register to get involved in the forum and receive regular emails from the site, which last year attracted up to 11,000 page views each month. The Salesians hope this number will grow as new resources and ideas are added.

Sadness As Endsleigh Closes

The leader of the Institute of Our Lady of Mercy has spoken of her sadness after the closure of the Endsleigh Centre in Hull. The centre operated as a pastoral, retreat and conference centre since 1995 and more recently began offering bed and breakfast facilities.

However, falling demand for its spiritual and retreat services and the fact that the Order no longer has anyone available to resource the centre led to the decision to close. After a consultation process, this has now been confirmed.

Trustees reviewed representations from both the Catholic and the wider community as well as staff, but said they were not presented with an option to buy the centre or any other viable proposal that would sustain its future.

Sister Colette Cronin said: "We would like to thank the management committee of the centre for their efforts, the committed staff and the many volunteers who continue to give of their time to help us in our work."

"I would also like to express my gratitude to Sister Catherine, the director of the centre for the last 13 years, and to the other Sisters who have lived and worked there over the years."

"The Endsleigh Centre has played a big part in the lives of so many sisters who have dedicated their lives to the furthering of Catholic education. As we consider the future, we remember all who passed through its corridors and contributed to the work of the Sisters of Mercy."

The trustees will contact families connected with the Hull Sands Memorial Garden to ensure their needs will be properly taken into account in decisions concerning the property.

Endsleigh was first used by the Sisters of Mercy in 1901 and was a college for many years. No decisions have yet been made about arrangements for the future of the property in the longer term.

Cath Presented With Bene Merenti Medal

Pope Francis has honoured St Andrew's, Teesville, parishioner Cath Coyle with a Bene Merenti Medal for her outstanding service to the Church. Cath received her medal and certificate from Parish Priest Canon Edmond Gubbins at evening Mass on the Feast of the Baptism of the Lord.

Cath shows outstanding commitment to good causes including the Catholic Fellowship, the Children of Chernobyl and the Shoe Box Christmas Appeal. She is also a Eucharistic Minister in the hospital and in the parish, a handmaid for the Lourdes Pilgrimage each year and a hardworking member of the Legion of Mary.

Canon Gubbins said: "On this feast day of the Baptism of the Lord, Cath is an excellent example of someone who is living out her baptismal promises and discipleship of Christ for the good of others, her family and the parish community everyday."

Premier Passions

In the first of a new regular series, MATTHEW BARBER discovers how a Premier League star combines faith and football...

Throughout the season of Lent, Hull City defender Paul McShane keeps a copy of the popular Walk With Me booklet close at hand. And for the 29-year-old Catholic, the name of the prayer book is a fitting description of his beliefs and his relationship with God.

"My faith has definitely helped me with my career," says Paul. "I'm extremely grateful, and I thank God every day for what I have. It gives me peace of mind to know there is a higher power watching over me."

The Irishman's career has seen him feature for a host of English clubs and 31 times for the Republic of Ireland national team. In the pulsating world of top-level football, Paul will not be the only one to look for the occasional divine intervention.

"Reaching the Premier League with Hull in 2013 always sticks in my mind because of the whole drama of the final day," he says. "It came down to the last few moments of the season.

"In the end we were waiting on the final result of Watford and Leeds, and it was a brilliant feeling when we were finally promoted."

Paul is also thankful to have featured in last season's FA Cup final for City, despite his side's eventual defeat to Arsenal.

"I was rushing back to get fit and be part of the squad because I'd had a bad injury – I'd torn the ligaments in my ankle," he says. "My motivation to get back was for the final. I just made it by the skin of my teeth – and to come on in the second half was an amazing experience."

But Paul also relies on his faith during the tougher times in his career.

"There are the highs, but there are definitely a lot of lows as well in football," he says. "Sometimes it can be very difficult and in those tough times I turn to my faith. I speak to God and it gives me a great feeling and a mental strength to overcome it."

Having started out as a trainee at Manchester United, the Kilpedder, County Wicklow-born stopper has now turned out for seven other English clubs, including Sunderland, West Brom and now the Tigers. With such a nomadic occupation, Paul is grateful for the Catholic community who have been a constant wherever he has gone.

"I go to Mass every Sunday, except on the odd occasion when we're travelling to play away," he says. "I get to know the local people around the place and it's nice to talk to them because it does help you settle in. Everywhere I've gone I've always found that, and in Hull it has been no different."

In fact, after one Mass, Paul and his mother met Bishop Terry.

"We didn't really realise it was the Bishop at first," he recalls. "We were having a cup of tea and I was talking to Father Pat Day, who I'm still good friends with. We were introduced to the Bishop and we had a good chat."

Hull City are battling to stay in the Premier League but whatever happens, on or off the pitch, Paul will always have his faith to guide him through it.
