A deacon for Rushden

Mass was concelebrated by Bishop Peter, Fr Joe Walsh, Fr Francis Higgins and six other priests. Thirteen Deacons were also in attendance, along with six Altar Servers and two M.C's. The processional Hymn was well sung by the congregation as indeed were all the hymns. The first reading from the Prophet Jeremiah was read by Rob Marchment and the second reading, from St Paul's first letter to Timothy read by Debbie Francis.

After the Gospel had been proclaimed by Deacon Peter Hurrell, Bishop Peter called forward Peter Remington, and Fr Francis, Director of Formation for the Permanent Diaconate, presented Peter to the Bishop. This was followed by the Bishop's homily in which he laid emphasis on the support and love of Peter's family.

After the Homily the Ordination proper took place, during which Peter prostrated himself on the sanctuary while all knelt for the Litany of the Saints led by cantor, Erik Kerr. After the laying on of hands and the Prayer of Consecration Peter's wife Linda and son Paul brought forward his Dalmatic and stole and Peter was vested by a fellow Deacon, before kneeling in front of the Bishop to receive the book of the Gospels, with these words, "Receive the Gospel of Christ, whose herald you now are. Believe what you read, teach what you believe and practice what you teach." Deacon Peter then took his place at the right hand of the Bishop for the remainder of the Mass. The offertory gifts were brought to the Bishop by Peter's wife Linda and son, James.

At the end of the Mass Peter's family came forward and the Bishop said a prayer of Blessing, firstly for Peter and Linda's marriage and secondly for the whole family, Deacon Peter gave the dismissal at the end and we sang the appropriate recessional hymn "We have a Gospel to proclaim." The retiring collection raised £342 for a borehole project in Zimbabwe.

Afterwards all were invited to the Parish Hall where the Union of Catholic Mothers had prepared refreshments. Peter was presented with four sets of vestments, (Dalmatic and stole) the green set donated by the Parish Men's group, the red by the UCM and the white and the purple by his friends in the Parish. Deacon Peter assisted Fr Joe at both Masses over the weekend.

News beyond the diocese of Northampton

London

Cardinal Cormac Murphy-O'Connor, the retired archbishop of Westminster, died on September 1 at the age of 85. The youngest of three brothers who were priests he was ordained for the Diocese of Portsmouth in 1956. After service in parishes, and then as secretary to Bishop Derek Worlock, he was appointed Rector of the Venerable English College in Rome. At the end of his term he was named Bishop of Arundel and Brighton in 1977, and Archbishop of Westminster in 2000. He received his red hat from Pope John Paul that same year and served at Westminster until his retirement at the age of 76.

Hearing of the Cardinal's death Bishop Peter called for prayers for him. He went on: "When I began training for the priesthood in 1962, Cardinal Cormac was the Vocations Director and, after I was ordained in 1968, we were fellow priests in the Diocese of Portsmouth until he became Bishop of Arundel and Brighton. Cardinal Cormac ordained me as Bishop of Northampton in 2005, and has always offered me his warm friendship and wise counsel. May he rest in peace."

London

With effect from the first Sunday of Advent, two holydays of obligation are being restored. This decision was made by the bishops of England and Wales and has been confirmed by the Holy See.

The days are:
the Epiphany of the Lord on January 6 (transferred to the adjacent Sunday when it falls on Saturday or Monday):

the Ascension of the Lord on the Thursday after the 6th Sunday of Easter.

Pristine

Following a ten year construction period a cathedral-shrine to St. Mother Teresa was consecrated on September 5. The choice of date was intentional as it marked the first anniversary of the canonisation of the saint, as well as the 20th anniversary of her death.

'Divine Providence has made this building possible' said Mgr Lush Gjergj, Vicar General. 'And it is especially thanks to the donations of our faithful and of Albanians abroad'

The building plot was given by Pristine's town Council, with the support of the late President of Kosovo, Ibrahim Rugova. It is estimated that the Cathedral is the largest in the Balkans, 77.40 metres long from the apse to the arcade, 42.30 metres wide up to the transept, 32.50 metres high, with two large steeples.

There are around 3000 Catholics in Pristina, and only 60,000 in the whole of Kosovo.

'We are all the more grateful for such a beautiful large cathedral, which is a source of joy also for the other inhabitants of the city, most of whom are Muslim' says Mgr Gjergj. In fact the shrine is already a tourist attraction and the bell tower offers a stunning view of the whole city.

The Opera Romana Pellegrinaggi will include the cathedral in pilgrimage itineraries linked to the life of Mother Teresa, along with Skopje, her hometown and capital of Macedonia; Prizren, where her parents were born; the shrine of Letnica, where she decided to become a nun, and Pristine, which she visited five times.

Fatima is to visit Northampton

September 31-October 1

The highlight of the Centenary Year of Our Lady's apparitions from May to October 1917, has been the canonisation at Fatima on 13th May of Francisco and Jacinta by Pope Francis, who thus became the first children in the history of the Church to become saints in the ordinary course of their family life.

To honour Our Lady, the World Apostolate of Fatima (WAF) has organised Visitations of the National Pilgrim Virgin Statue to the Cathedrals of England and Wales, together with relics of Saints Francisco and Jacinta for veneration, which began on Saturday 18 February, when Cardinal Nichols received, blessed and crowned the Statue in Westminster Cathedral. So many people came, that the doors had to be closed. Since then the dioceses of Cardiff, Southwark, Shrewsbury, Menevia, Nottingham, Plymouth, Arundel & Brighton, Birmingham, Hallam, Portsmouth and Leeds have received the Statue, and the Visitations will continue until mid-October.

In his homily Cardinal Nichols said that devotion to the Immaculate Heart of Mary, so central to her message, "is a way for us to say 'yes' [like she did] from the depths of our hearts ... which is why today we consecrate afresh ourselves, our lives, our country, to the Immaculate Heart of Mary, so that we can always be saying 'Yes' to the Lord, with all our heart, with all our will, from the centre of our being. And only Mary can teach us how to do this."

He also emphasised the importance of the Rosary and of praying it in the family, which he recalled doing as a child.

On the weekend of 30th September and 1st October 2017 the Statue and Relics will be visiting The Catholic Cathedral of Our Lady Immaculate & St Thomas of Canterbury, Northampton, and the highlight of the weekend will be Holy Mass with a post-communion Act of Consecration to the Immaculate Heart of Mary. Mass will be preceded by the enthronement & crowning of the National Fatima Statue, and followed by veneration of the Relics of Saints Jacinta & Francisco, and enrolment & investiture of the Brown Scapular.

There will also be Fatima Talks and devotions over the weekend, including the Rosary. Full details will be published nearer the time at <http://www.worldfatima-englandwales.org.uk/visitation.html> and also circulated to parishes.

Please make a note of the Visitation in your diary, and be sure to tell your friends and fellow parishioners about this important forthcoming event.

If you can help with the Visitation programme in any way, please email: info@worldfatima-englandwales.org.uk or tel. 07786 487557.

Laying hands on the sick

Friday 23rd June saw parishioners of the Sacred Heart in Flitwick mark their Feast Day with the annual Mass for the Sick organised as usual by the parish conference of the SVP. Almost 50 parishioners gathered together to celebrate the Feast and support those coming to receive the sacrament of the sick through anointing. People came from all parts of our widespread parish with members of the SVP helping with transport where needed. For some, the mass has become a regular event in their lives and for some it was their first experience of such a mass, but all said how strengthened they felt by attending the celebration. Canon Bennie Noonan was the celebrant assisted by Deacon Philip Pugh.

Following the mass, the members of the SVP served an afternoon tea and this went on for much longer than usual as everyone was having such a good time eating and chatting.

Saint Paul's exam success

Students at St Paul's Catholic School celebrated another strong performance on A-Level results day with 62% achieving grades A* - C. The overall A-Level pass rate for the school was 98%. For those taking BTEC National Vocational courses, 60% gained a Distinction or Distinction*.

Jo-Anne Hoarty, Headteacher at St Paul's Catholic School, said: "Students have worked extremely hard for these results and we are delighted that so many of them will now achieve their dream of going on to a university or apprenticeship. Once again the progress made by our A-Level students is very positive."

As a result of their achievements, St Paul's students will be going on to study at universities around the UK, with an ever increasing number electing to go to Russell Group universities. A growing number of our students have gained places on prestigious Degree level apprenticeships and school leaver programmes, illustrating the diverse range of opportunities that we prepare our students for.

Jo-Anne added: "It is very pleasing to note that we achieved our best ever results in the Extended Project, with 48% of the students who did Extended Project alongside their A-Levels gaining an A* or A. The Extended Project gives them the wider skills to help them succeed in A-Level courses and prepare them for the world of work. It is highly valued by both universities and employers.

"We are very proud of all our students and particular congratulations go to Aleksandra Lubas who achieved six A* - A grades at A-Level, and Max Johnson, Hannah Huxtable, Sandra Bargiela, Wiktoria Kijowska and Julia Korytowska who achieved 4 A* - A grades."

Kettering visits recusant house

Sixteen members of Kettering U.C.M.. Foundation spent a wonderful day at Baddesley Clinton, Warks, a beautiful tudor house set in the Forest of Arden. We left Kettering around 9.45 a.m. and were driven by our 'Honorary U.C.M. member, Ron Steele. Also we had the privilege of our Canon John joining us. This house has a special resonance with Northamptonshire. It was owned by the Ferrers family for five hundred years. There is so much to this place, especially its association with our Catholic faith during the 1600's when priests and the faithful were persecuted. The family Vaux owned Harrowden Hall, nr. Kettering. It became a source of refuge for priests and laity looking for sanctuary away from London. The two sisters, Anne and Elizabeth Vaux, decided to rent Baddesley when things got 'too hot' and the persecutors became alarmingly close at Harrowden.

There are three priests holes at Baddesley of which only two could we see. cleverly incorporated within the structure of the house and are meticulously preserved. As an added interest, we have the church of Saint Nicholas Owen dedicated to this humble carpenter within our St. Edwards parish. His inspiration to make hideways inside some of the most prominent catholic houses of the day, notwithstanding the terrible price exacted from anyone harbouring a priest in those days of terror, it is the legacy these brave families have left us. St. Nicholas Owen endured a martyrs' death.

After the tour around the house we were able to go our separate ways; some visited the book shop, some ready for a cup of tea and later, we had lunch in the restaurant where large and varied menus were on display. Thereafter being suitably replenished time to look around the beautiful gardens and moat. Plants were also on sale and a well equipped shop.

We also visited the church of St. Michael which lay some hundred yards away and discovered the tomb of Nicholas Brome. His family were the first owners of Baddesley. However, he was the murderer of a priest. For his sins he wished to be buried standing up. His plaque can be seen just inside the door of the church, so everyone who enters treads on his head !

The weather was very dismal with some intermittent light showers but it certainly did not spoil our lovely day at Baddesley Clinton.

Saying it with flowers

Kettering parish celebrates the sacraments

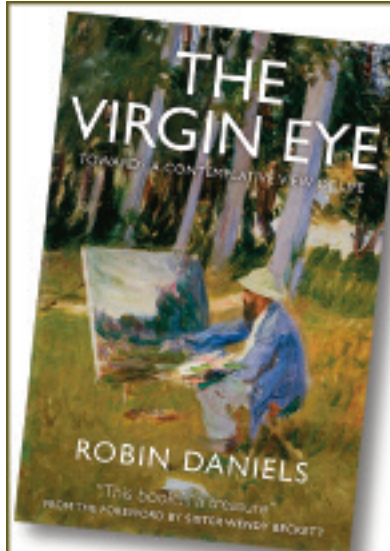

The weekend of 22nd and 23rd July was a very busy one for the many communities that make up St Edward's Parish, Kettering. The first Ever Flower Festival opened on the Saturday morning taking as its theme . "The Seven Sacraments" leading to an International Mass on the Sunday Morning. Canon John, the Parish Priest wrote

Many people have said how proud we should be of the parishioners who worked so skilfully and successfully to produce a floral display for the Seven Sacraments, with thought provoking prayers and appropriate artefacts. It has been truly artistic and accompanied by background supporting music.

It proves the setting for an inspirational 'international' Mass, with music from many continents, led by Father Pius inviting all to pray the 'Our Father' in their own language - and yet have everyone finish at exactly the same moment! A great many photographs have been taken so that an appropriate record can be made available in due course. A special thanks to all the variety of choirs, instrumentalists, also, with a hope that more regularly the music can be shared at Mass in many varieties and languages

During the weekend topical added value was given to the "Holy Orders" display by the addition of the order of service from Ordination which had taken place earlier that day of Fr Michael Bates who had worked in the parish while a student at Oscott.

THE VIRGIN EYE by Robin Daniels

The Virgin Eye by Robin Daniels inspires us to see the world anew through the innocent eyes of a child, so as to become more aware of God's presence in everyday life and encounters.

This book offers insights into contemplative prayer and mindfulness; making wise decisions; enjoying a creative relationship; slowing down; and managing change and stress. Daniels demonstrates how we can put St Paul's challenge request to 'pray without ceasing' into practice. He explores how we can turn suffering and trial into opportunity and growth, as we learn to see God, ourselves and other people with a pure heart and a pure eye

Celebration time again

Forty two teenagers from four Milton Keynes parishes gathered at Thornton convent for 'Celebration' over the August Bank Holiday weekend. Celebration, a residential event, takes a theme of religious interest and explores it in words, mime, drama, music and art.

This year, at the 40th Celebration, they looked at worship. Beginning with hero worship they decided on an appropriate occupant for the fourth plinth in Trafalgar Square. Then they looked at the worship of animals. Saturday was Jewish day. They explored the origin and significance of the Passover meal, and then made the costumes which are usually worn. In the evening they celebrated the Passover itself, with the appropriate food. They were interested to note that Jesus shared the final cup when the meal was over. It was the cup of Elijah, and he was declaring that he was the Messiah. The four prescribed cups of wine were of course demoted to grape juice. On Sunday they looked at the critics of Catholic worship and discussed how they might be sent packing. Finally, on Monday, they shared insights into the liturgy. Do you know what a zucchetto is?

"The Sisters at Thornton have given us their hospitality now for forty years" commented co-ordinator Fr. Paul Hardy. "We are deeply grateful to them". And of course it wasn't entirely study and prayer. An obstacle course guaranteed a good soaking. And Celebration wouldn't be the same if everyone wasn't covered in flour.

Ambassadors meet

The pupil Faith Ambassadors from the Catholic primary schools in Luton joined together at Holy Ghost parish hall in Luton to celebrate their year's work. The day began with some 'getting to know you' activities and the pupils worked in groups exploring their faith in a variety of ways including reflection sessions, art and craft activities and drama. After lunch we celebrated mass together in the church with Fr. Michael from St. Martin de Porres parish, Luton. The children really enjoyed the opportunity to meet and get to know their counterparts in the other schools and were very engaged in the day.

Youth mental health

On the last two days of June leaders from schools and parishes gathered for a Youth Mental Health First Aid course at the RE Centre in Luton. Youth mental health and mental health in general are growing issues both nationally and internationally which as catholic schools and parishes we want to play our part in helping to respond to. The course was an excellent exploration of the main areas of youth mental health. During the sessions we were equipped with tools to offer support on a first aid basis to young people. If any parishes or schools would like to take up the opportunity of experiencing training in mental health first aid over the next year please contact Alex Heath at the Diocesan Re Centre (NORES) as future courses can be organised to respond to training needs in our Diocesan schools and parishes.

BOOK REVIEW

Fatima: The First Hundred Years

By Barry R. Pearlman

In the centenary year of the apparitions of Our Lady to three Portuguese shepherd children in 1917, author Barry R Pearlman has produced, as the subtitle puts it, “The Complete Story from Visionaries to Saints.” It is well worth reading by those who are not yet acquainted with these events of such significance for the Church, which has long proclaimed them as authentic, and who require a book that is concise, readable and trustworthy. Pearlman sees his task as explaining the profound and momentous message conveyed by Our Lady to Lucia, Jacinta and Francisco, at the same time as relating the particular histories of the seers themselves.

He puts the apparitions within the context of the 1830 apparition by Our Lady in the Rue de Bac, Paris, to St Catherine Laboure and the subsequent promotion of the Miraculous Medal; her 1846 apparition at La Salette; and her apparitions at Lourdes in 1858 to St Bernadette. As he comments, “Throughout the history of the Church Mary has been solicitous in appearing at moments of historical urgency.”

The year 1917 was one such occasion: Europe was embroiled in the First World War and Russia was on the brink of a revolution which would force atheistic Communism on millions of people in Eastern Europe as well as Russia. These world-shaking events were, of course, not known to the three children of Fatima, deeply immersed in a rural peasant culture that was at the same time profoundly Catholic; “a world that had not learned to separate religion from everyday life” and in which “Jesus, Mary and the saints, Masses, festivals and devotions” were second nature.

Pearlman relates how the apparitions, first of the Angel of Portugal in 1916 and then of Our Lady a year later, transformed the lives of the little seers; already humble and devout they gave themselves up to an astonishingly edifying practice of prayer and self-sacrifice in response to Our Lady’s requests. Her messages were in some ways traditional – the pleas for prayer and penance and to “pray the Rosary every day in order to obtain peace for the world and the end of the war” – and in others unusual: her request for “the consecration of Russia to my Immaculate Heart” and her warning that “If my requests are heeded, Russia will be converted and there will be peace; if not, she will spread her errors throughout the world.”

Pearlman relates the whole history of how and when the consecration of Russia finally took place, in 1984 during the pontificate of Saint John Paul II, and the extraordinary collapse of the Soviet empire which followed. In swift succession Leonid Brezhnev, Soviet leader for 18 years, died of a heart attack; his successor, Andropov, lasted a mere 15 months; and Andropov’s successor, Chernenko, only survived one year. On 11 March 1985 Mikhail Gorbachev became General Secretary of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union and “the unthinkable began to happen”: by 1989 1000 Orthodox dioceses were established, two new seminaries were opened and several monasteries were restored.

The author also makes it clear that the Third Secret of Fatima was fully disclosed in 2000, thus dispelling the views of conspiracy theorists who believe that parts of it have been deliberately withheld.

On 12-13 May 2010 Pope Benedict visited Fatima. He gave a Golden Rose to Our Lady of Fatima ‘as a homage of gratitude from the Pope for the marvels that the Almighty has worked through you in the hearts of so many who come as pilgrims to this your maternal home’.

The Pope also recalled ‘the invisible hand’ that saved John Paul II. He said in a prayer to the Blessed Virgin Mary that ‘it is a profound consolation to know that you are crowned not only with the silver and gold of our joys and hopes, but also with the ‘bullet’ of our anxieties and sufferings’.

Mr Michael Murray

Michael Murray died on July 22nd. His daughter Siobhan writes:

Michael was a committed and active member of the St Edward's parish for over 30 years since moving to Milton Keynes with his family in 1984.

Son of Eileen Margaret and Patrick Joseph, of Irish descent he was born and bred in the northern town of Warrington alongside a younger brother, Brendan, and sister, Maureen. A good education was high on the agenda and one he was committed to, a commitment rewarded by achieving a place at the De La Salle Grammar School in Salford, and then on to study at the University of Manchester where he graduated with a degree in law in 1966 and then to Wigan where he completed his Articles in private practice. It was a short stint in private practice because instead he committed his skills to public service.

Starting out with Crewe Borough Council Michael went on to join Chester City Council as Assistant Town Clerk. 2 years later and at the age of just 29, he progressed to the role of Chief Administrator. And as noted in a 1972 edition of the Chester Chronicle...Mr Murray is the youngest local government officer in the country to hold such a senior post. In 1984 he was to become the youngest ever Chief Executive of a major council in the country with his move to Milton Keynes, and by the end of his tenure one of the longest serving at almost 13 years with too many achievements to note.

On his retirement Michael went on to a part time CEO position with the British Osteopathic Association, undertaken with the full time commitment and enthusiasm as you would expect, for almost another decade.

Colleagues from over the years have shared many memories typifying the man he was, with words such as supportive, wise, providing good counsel, personable with a sharp and funny wit and always noting the way he dealt with people – with respect and patience.

Friends have described him as being like a brother to them and recall his intellect, fairness, high principles, generosity, his zest for life and eagerness to experience and learn new things, his ability to mix and make people feel special, a memorable host and guest of many parties, one of the nicest people you could wish to meet.

Despite his commitment to his career, this was rarely at the expense of hobbies, interests, family or voluntary interests. These were vast and varied over the years ranging from amateur dramatics and the Christmas choir, to camping, rambling, climbing and cycling holidays all over the world. He was also a keen runner, keep fit enthusiast, cyclist, golfer, squash and badminton player, student, reader, historian, chess player, wine connoisseur, amateur chef and a committed supporter of Private Eye, the Guardian and the RSPB. A diligent Deputy Lieutenant of Buckinghamshire for 19 years, he also dedicated time to magistrate selection and appointment, trustee and board positions across a broad spectrum of local causes, as well as actively supporting his local churches and parishes throughout his life.
